FABULOUS FOUNDATIONS

As the heat of summer fades into the coolness of autumn, bathing suits give way to jogging suits, slacks replace shorts and sweaters come out to cover T-shirts. It's a new season for fashion, a season in which, regrettably, there's much less out there to meet the eye. But throughout the year, one type of clothing remains constant—lingerie. Intimate apparel that reveals so much about a woman, that determines how she feels and how she looks, is the foundation upon which stunning wardrobes are built. In this issue of Playboy's Book of Lingerie, we show what lies beneath the surface, starting with cover girl Laurie Carr, who, needless to say, is simply fabulous.

Laurie Carr made her first Playboy appearance as Miss December 1986. Since then, she has made hundreds of personal appearances, signed more autographs than she can remember and appeared in many of Playboy's Newsstand Specials. Fortunately for us, Laurie has a made-for-lingerie body to go with her gorgeous face.

Getting off to a fast start doesn't necessarily ensure a great day. We're sure these ladies will be movers and shakers once they get moving. Jill Terashita (left) resists the temptation to slide under the covers and slowly readies herself for whatever comes along. Suzie McClure (above) has gotten as far as a dressing gown. Brianna Harvard (below left) has progressed to a cropped camisole, but Penny Baker (below right) lingers in her nightie.

A soft, silky robe draped over skin can make a woman feel she's lazing in the lap of luxury. Katharine Gorzel (above) likes to pamper herself. Helle Michaelsen (right) is inclined to let her tresses fall where they may.

Long hours working overtime deplete a woman's get-up-and-go. Laura Carstens (above) and Ryan Knight (below) are only half out of their lingerie before their heads hit the pillows. They probably have lacy nightgowns waiting in their bedrooms. Evelyn Escalante (right) hasn't even made it to the sofa before she starts disrobing.

When Michele Maglio (above left) and Daniella Richter (above right) slide teddy straps over bare shoulders, they're laying foundations for a fabulous day. Whether in black (left) or an animal print (overleaf), Cynthia Kaye finds that exotic lingerie enhances dark beauty.

If this were a race to get out of bed, none of these ladies would be a sure bet. Lori Williamson (left) achieves at least some headway wriggling out of her robe and almost into her bra, but she still has a long way to go. Nikki Anderson (below) is twice as dressed as Terri Lynn Doss (bottom), but both appear lacking in motivation.

Isn't it wonderful how variety in a woman's lingerie can take the drudgery out of morning rituals? Tammie Norton (above) does isometrics in a bra and bikini and Dona Speir (right) makes up for lost time in a camisole. Teri Weigel (far right) makes a complete mesh of the idea that form should follow function.

Deciding which foundation to wear can set the rhythm for a fabulous day. Stephanie Chambers (below) lets tap pants set her pace, while Devin DeVasquez (bottom) opts to take it steady in a teddy. Shannon DeShay (right) wears many hats, but today she selects a bra and pleated tap pants in which to juggle her many responsibilities.

Except for her panties, Stephanie Chambers (above left) remains unruffled unless she misses her afternoon tea, which she always takes in a kimono. Karleen Kyler (above right) and Shannon Rae (right) go for similar undergarments. The briefer the better for Shannon, but Karleen adds a comfy bathrobe to keep away drafts. Brandi Downs (overleaf) feels absolutely heavenly in her teddy.

Swirling leaves on blustery days send women to their closets to rediscover cover-ups that have been stored away all summer. In cozy flannel shirts that would do any lumberjack proud, Angela Brooks (above) and Tracy Dali (right) show that great beauties often think alike.

Cathy St. George (below)
deals with cool weather by turning up the heat, dressing in a jacket and thong

and hibernating. In a nest of blankets, Chelsey Parks (right) braces herself in

Some lingerie items, indispensable in days of yore, have passed out of fashion and are almost never seen in stores anymore, but Jeannie Hallaway (above) is doing her best to usher in a return to vogue of knickers. Anna Clark (right) makes a case for the perennially popular camisole.

At the end of a tiring day, Nia Breeon (left) unwinds in a G string and lace-trimmed chemise. Ann Wagner (above) stays with tried-and-true garter belt and bra.

A strong foundation is vital to any structure. The panties on Melody Farr (above) and Jill Terashita (right) are every bit as durable as they are attractive. Eloise Broady (far right) adopts a loose, unstructured look in a shawl-collared robe. Alicia Sanchez (overleaf) and her gown could cause walls to tumble down.

Karleen Kyler (above), feeling feisty in her lamé boxers, has to get a grip on herself before strapping on a bra. Rolling Stones fan Cynthia Harris (right) likes to stretch out in her teddy and listen to Tattoo You.

Dressing gowns become de rigueur when summer passes into autumn and a girl needs a little something extra in the way of comfortable at-home wear. A satin robe makes the trip to dreamland a smooth one for Terri Lynn Doss (left). Anna MacDowell (above left) steps outside to test the temperature with a cotton wrap barely concealing lace cami and panties. Lynn Marie (above right) coordinates a kimono with panties and bandeau.

Ladies of an uncommonly comely stripe, Tammy Allison (left) and Stacey Canchola (above) look terry-fic as they demonstrate the joys of owning a bathrobe made of this venerable fabric. Jennifer Jackson (overleaf) wears an upscale version in pinstriped satin with contrasting trim.

What tickles the fancy of Anna MacDowell (below) is an awareness of her image in a kimono the color of butter. Teddy-clad Tawnni Cable (right) undoubtedly fancies tickling the ivories with a lilting ragtime tune.

Mies van der Rohe was speaking of architecture when he advanced the "less is more" concept; Terri Higgins (above) shows its application to lingerie in a teeny-weeny bikini. Dawn Stern (right) cordially extends the principle during a midmorning phone briefing.

Anna MacDowell (left) projects an air of composure when she belts herself into a see-through bodysuit. Stephanie Chambers (above) finds that her spirits soar when she puts on flounced panties. Monique Noel (overleaf) unleashes animal magnetism in a wing chair and coy camisole.

Indian summer is here in all its glory. Terri Lynn Doss (above) in a button-front, gartered corselet and Teri Weigel (right) in a cropped top and panties go outside to play. Jill Terashita (far right) offers a brief lesson in adapting men's underwear to the female form.

Nautical and nice Pam Stein (left) sails away in a camisole. Back on shore, Theresa Ann Presley (above) in a half-slip and Sasha Simons (below) in a bustier and crinoline petticoat while away an afternoon. Sándra Wild (overleaf) goldbricks in an assortment of finery.

Corsets aren't the ubiquitous essential they were, but they'll never go out of style as long as they're worn with the panache shown by Tera Tabrizi (left) and Jessie Simpson (above left). Joan Marie (above right) psychs up for a night of hitting the books by stripping down to undergarments. Could be she feels smarter in a garter.

A woman's lingerie is among her most treasured possessions, which is why Sherrie Rose (above) puts hers on with t.l.c. On unseasonably warm days, Shannon McLaren (right) is inclined to crank up the A/C to the maximum and recline in almost the minimum.

A passing fad was panties labeled for each day of the week. Lori Williamson starts a new trend: panties meant for specific occasions. She makes a motion for paisley at the power lunch, then readies herself with frilly chintz for a holiday picnic. When Friday night finally rolls around, she pops into something bubbly to match her mood.

When Lori's feeling soft and cuddly, only the finest white lace will do. On chilly days, a denim-and-lace panty gets a little backup support from a jacket. Time to boogie: Lori gets decked out in rough-and-tough leather dancing panties. Overleaf: If a romantic evening is on the docket, she dons an intricately beaded G string.

Erica Ringstrom (left) pauses to reflect on the heady feeling she gets in a corset and stockings. Laura Hansen (above) demonstrates why the popularity of the chemise is on the increase. In heels and G string, Keri-Anne (right) could boost the sales of anything she endorsed.

By sheer coincidence, Kellie Pellam (above) shifts attention to the fact that this edition of Playboy's Book of Lingerie is coming to a close. But Ava Fabian (below), Simone Eden (right) and Laura Carstens (overleaf) serve as reminders that we'll be back with more fantastic models in fabulous foundations in a couple of months.
